

CHAMOMILE

Chamomile is a member of the daisy family. It has long been used as a herbal remedy for a wide range of medicinal purposes and makes a great herbal tea. It is a perennial herb that grows up to a foot tall and spreads easily. The plants do well in full sun but can cope with some shade too.

CHERVIL

Chervil grows up to 2ft tall, with fern-like anise-flavoured leaves that are an essential ingredient in salsa verde. The herb will last 2 years if planted in a semi-shaded position as it can bolt if it gets too hot or dries out. The leaves may have a light purple tinge when it gets cold but the flavour is unaffected.

CHIVES

Chives are a hardy perennial that die back each winter and reappear in the spring. Their delicate flavour goes well in many dishes and the flowers are edible too. Plant in a rich moist soil in full sun and water well through the growing season, and in autumn mulch with well-rotted manure.

GARLIC CHIVES

Garlic chives are similar to regular chives as they die back each winter and reappear in the spring. They have a sweet garlic flavour that goes well in many dishes and the delicate white flowers are edible too. Treat as you would regular chives and plant in a rich moist soil in full sun and water well through the growing season.
